

Preamble:

The Inkomati-Usuthu Catchment Management Agency (IUCMA) operates with a strong commitment to upholding ethical principles in all aspects of its work. Guided by a set of core business ethics, the agency endeavours to ensure that its operations are conducted with fairness, respect, honesty, accountability, loyalty, and integrity.

Accountability:

The IUCMA takes responsibility for their actions and decisions. They are accountable to the public, stakeholders, and regulatory bodies. They ensure that resources are used efficiently and responsibly, comply with relevant laws and regulations, and deliver on their commitments.

Honesty:

Honesty is a fundamental ethic practised by the IUCMA. We are committed to transparency and truthfulness in their operations, communications, and decision-making processes.

Fairness:

The Inkomati-Usuthu Catchment Management Agency (IUCMA) upholds the principle of fairness by treating all stakeholders, including individuals, communities, and organisations, impartially and equitably.

Integrity:

Integrity is a guiding principle for the IUCMA. They avoid conflicts of interest, maintain confidentiality when required, and make decisions based on sound moral and professional judgment.

Loyalty:

Loyalty is demonstrated by the IUCMA's commitment to the organization's mission, goals, and values. They work diligently to advance the agency's objectives, protect the interests of their stakeholders, and promote sustainable water resource management within the catchment.
